Communism Beaten Again In West German Election

Airliner Plunges In Sea Off Ireland; 49 Persons Saved

Galway, Ireland, Aug. 15. (AP)—Its fuel exhausted, an American four-engined air liner bellied into the Atlantic off western Ireland in darkness early today. Nine of its 58 occupanents were killed and the rest were saved in a dramatic sea-air rescue.

Among those saved was Ruth Nichols, 48, noted American aviatrix.

The big Skymaster,. bound from Rome to New York with 47 Italian emigrants of Venezuela and 11 Americans aboard, overshot Shannon airport. Another American airliner tried to escort it back to Shannon but the Skymaster's gasoline gave out and it plopped into the calm sea 15 miles off the Irish coast.

British and American transport planes guided surface vessels in the rescue operations.

Nine of the Americans aboard were crew members and two were employes of the Transocean Airlines, owners of the plane.

Ten hours after the plane dropped through a cloudbank into the sea, the British trawler Stalberg pulled into Galway harbor with 49 survivors. The Irish steamer Lanahrone had helped her in the rescue work.

One American crewman was killed. The other eight dead were passengers, according to Otis Nelson, president of Transocean Airlines.

Nelson identified the dead crewman as Radio Officer Herbert Asbel of 2932 West 17th street, Brooklyn, N. Y. Survivors said he was killed while he was trying to leave the plane. Apparently he was struck by a piece of the plane's broken tail.

When the plane was approaching Shannon, Asbel's radio equipment was blanked out by atmospheric conditions, and this caused the plane to overshoot the airport. Over the Atlantic, the plane went down so gently, the survivors said, that they were not even thrown from their seats.

Barkley Avoids Romantic Hitch For Dedication

Paducah, Ky., Aug. 15 (AP)—"Operation Veep" went off on schedule here yesterday—without a hitch, romantic or otherwise.

With upwards of 10,000 persons on hand for the rededication of the Paducah-McCracken county airport as Barkley Field, vice president Alben Barkley made only a jocular reference to his rumored romance with Mrs. Carleton Hadley, St. Louis widow. while crowning his six-year- old granddaughter, Dorothy Anne Barkley, "Queen of Queens," he solemnly told the crowd:

"I was quoted as saying that I was going to crown a queen of my own some day. I couldn't say then what I had in mind, although there was much speculation."

Then, pausing dramatically while Mrs. Hadley sat intent on the speaker's platform nearby, he continued:

"I am happy to announce that here is the little queen of my own," and smiling broadly, he stooped and placed a crown and a kiss on his granddaughter.

Hoover To Stay In New York City

New York, Aug. 15 (AP)—Former President Herbert Hoover, who suffered a gall bladder disturbance en route from California, arrives in New York City today on the Twentieth Century Limited.

Mr. Hoover, 75. said on a stopover in Chicago yesterday that the concern aroused by the attack was "much ado about nothing."

The former president, who maintains a suite at the Waldorf-Astoria hotel here, said he expects to spend "a good part of the year" in New York. While at the hotel he will cooperate in putting into effect the recommendations of his committee on reorganization of the executive branch of the government.

The former president said he had received 10,000 messages—most of them complimentary—since his 75th birthday speech on government economy at his Palo Alto, Calif., home last Wednesday.

Slovak General Siezed In U. S.

Red Suspect DP Held At Ellis Island

New York, Aug. 15 (AP)—A former high-ranking Slovakian official, seized as he arrived in this country as a displaced person, was detained at Ellis Island today as a suspected Communist.

The ex-official, Gen. Mikulas Ferjencik, 44, was taken into custody yesterday along with his wife, Milada, 32.

Inspector Edward Ferro of the U. S. immigration and naturalization service said the couple would be held at Ellis Island pending further investigation.

The general and his wife were among 822 passengers listed as displaced persons who arrived from Bremerhaven, Germany, on the U. S. army transport General Heintzelman.

Among positions which Ferjencik has held were Slovak minister of the interior and minister of defense.

Ferjencik, while serving as Slovak minister of the interior, held a non-party status, but he supported Communist Premier Klement Gottwald, now president, in reforming the Slovakian government.

Channel Swimmer Delayed By Wind

Dover, Eng., Aug. 15 (AP)—Shirley May France's advisers decided not to send her to France tonight for her attempt to swim the English channel because weather conditions were not right. There was a westerly breeze.

The 17-year-old girl from Somerset, Mass., interrupted her rest in her hotel room today and took a 20-minute swim in Dover harbor. Her manager, Ted Worner, announced:

"We are going to wait at least another day for perfect conditions. We have not come this far to take any chances. We are prepared to stay another month if necessary."

Her coach, Harry Boudakian, believes Shirley May is in top condition to try to conquer the treacherous 21 miles of water separating England from the continent.

Warships Will Carry Radio-Guided Rocket To Knock Out Planes

San Diego, Calif., Aug. 15 (AP)—The Navy has a new radio-guided rocket for knocking down enemy planes from ships at sea.

This was disclosed when pictures of the bullet-shaped missile were released by Consolidated Vultee Aircraft Corp. here yesterday. It was called the "Convair Lark."

The company said tests had been conducted since 1947.

In Washington, the Navy said it expected to release its own pictures and information today or tomorrow.

The Navy has told congress that some such guided missiles would be ready for fleet installations by 1950.

Jail Star Boarder, Held For Gambling, Plays Church Organ

Central City, Colo., Aug. 15 (AP)—The doors in the Central city jail are still swinging to and fro for Mrs. Alice C. Ramstetter, 68, the star boarder.

She played the organ in the Catholic church yesterday. After a leisurely dinner with the Rev. Francis Potempa, the pastor, she returned to her well furnished cell.

Mrs. Ramstetter went to jail last Thursday night when she and 38 other business people in this summer resort were charged with gambling — operating slot machaines. Justice of the Peace Lowell Griffith swore out the complaints in a one-man crusade.

Attack Shifted To Nankang By Chinese Reds

Danger For Refugee Capital Increased

By SPENCER MOOSA

Canton, Aug. 15 (AP)—Chinese Communist forces have bypassed besieged Kanhsien and attacked Nankang, 195 northeast of Canton, the Nationalist refugee capital.

The Nationalist military admitted this serious development today in the Kiangsi Province fighting but said Kanhsien itself still was in government hands.

Official dispatches said the Reds swung to the west of Kanhsien, 215 miles northeast of Canton, and began an assault on Nankang, 20 miles southwest of the Kiangsi capital which the provincial government abandoned last week.

Nankang, on the traditional invasion route to Kwangtung province, is only 20 miles from the border of that province. Canton is in Kwangtung. Unofficial reports said the Nationalists are reinforcing southern Kiangsi in an effort to keep the Reds from Kwangtung.

Kanhsien is reported under attack by the Reds from several directions. Nationalist planes are supporting the defenders, dispatches said, and casualties on both sides were described as heavy.

On the northern approaches to Canton, the Nationalists said their Hunan province forces have stalled a southward Communist offensive along the Hankow-Canton railway. Heavy Red losses are claimed.

Press reports said the Communist would try to bypass Hengshan, 290 miles north of Canton, for a direct attack on the rail junction Bastion of Hengyang, 265 miles north. Private reports Saturday indicated Hengshan already had been bypassed or captured since fighting was then going on south of the town.

In coastal Fukien province, northeast of Kwangtung and east of Kiangsi, other Red forces are hammering closer to Foochow, the provincial capital.

Church Defies Czech Regime

Two Catholic Bishops Are Consecrated

Trnava, Czechoslovakia, Aug. 15 (AP) — The Roman Catholic church defied an order by Cechoslovakia's Communist government and consecrated two new bishops yesterday.

The government order prohibits such ceremonies unless prior government approval is obtained. It also prohibits pilgrimages to the ceremonies. A large crowd attended, however, despite a government transport blockade.

The government claims, under an unofficial agreement made before the war, the right to reject or approve a candidate for bishop proposed by the Vatican. Diplomatic representatives of the Vatican explained this was circumvented by making the two churchmen titular bishops of dioceses outside Czechoslovakia, rather than bishops in residence.

The new bishops are Msgr. Ambrosius Lazik, Apostolic administrator of Trnava, who was named titular bishop of Appia, and Msgr Robert Pobozny, capitular vicar of Roznava, made titular bishops of Neila. Archbishop Josef Matocha, of Olomouc, Moravia, officiated.

Both new bishops have expressed their loyalty to Archbishop Josef Beran, the nation's primate, who has led the fight against government control of the church.

The boat overturned when it struck the wake of a speeding boat. The mothers were on shore at the time.

Fair Revenue Drops

Ionia (AP)—The Ionia Free Fair, second largest exposition in Michigan, saw its revenue fall 25 per cent this year. Allen Williams, president of the fair that closed Saturday, blamed bad weather and decreased spending for the drop. He said the fair would have a longer season next year.

NEW VALENTINO—This isn't Rudolph Valentino, whose "great lover" silent films had the flappers flopping all over in the '20's, but it's the next best thing, thinks Hollywood producer Edward Small. The "Rudy" above is Tony Dexter, of Talmadge, Neb., one-time football star and GI sergeant. He'll play the name role in the forthcoming film "Valentino as I Knew Him." His selection from among 75,000 applicants ended the greatest talent hunt in screen history.

Arms Aid Gets House Priority

Opposition Mounts For Truman Plan

By WILLIAM F. ARBOGAST

Washington, Aug. 15 (AP)—House leaders gave President Truman's $1,450,000,000 arms aid program top priority today. They still weren't too confident they could steer it through a storm of mounting opposition.

The House Foreign Affairs committee tentatively decided to take final action at today's session. The rules committee is ready to clear it promptly for House debate starting probably Wednesday or Thursday.

While the bill stands a better than even chance to emerge without major change from the foreign affairs committee, the story in the House itself may be entirely different.

Opponents of granting the full amount requested by President Truman to help friendly nations arm against possible aggression have given up the fight in the committee, where they lost by a tie vote. But they are determined to renew the fight when the bill reaches the House.

They want the program cut in half and its life limited to an interim period ending next March 31, after which Congress could renew it or stop it cold.

Big Upper Peninsula State Fair Opens In Escanaba On Tuesday

The Upper Peninsula's outstanding educational and entertainment program, the Upper Peninsula State Fair, will present its 17th annual exposition, beginning tomorrow, Aug. 16, and continuing through Sunday, Aug. 21, at the state fairgrounds in Escanaba. Everything is in readiness for the fair which is promised to be the biggest and best exposition ever presented in the Upper Peninsula.

Tuesday, opening day, is Queen's Day at the fair and approximately two dozen lovely ladies, representing communities from all sections of the peninsula, will compete for the title of Upper Peninsula State Fair Queen. The selection will be made in front of the grandstand Tuesday evening and Mayor Robrt LeMire of Escanaba will crown the new queen.

"Twosome Specials"

A full entertainment program is scheduled for the opening day. All exhibits will be in place at one o'clock Tuesday afternoon. A grandstand performance will be presented both afternoon and evening, with a variety of outstanding hippodrome acts and the presentation of queen candidates in the afternoon. The queens will be presented again in the evening, before and after the beautiful State Fair revue. The coronation of the State Fair queen will conclude the grandstand program in the evening. The afternoon program is scheduled for 2:00 p. m. and the evening program at 8:30 p. m.

The first of two special "twosome nights" is offered for the grandstand presentation Tuesday night, at which time two persons will be admitted to the grandstand show for a single admission, plus the federal tax for two tickets. The second of the "twosome night" specials will be offered Friday night. Coupons for this special may be secured from cooperating local merchants or from the Escanaba Chamber of Commerce.

The exhibits at the fair this year will surpass anything previously presented, Secretary Manager Harold Lindsay has reported. Outstanding exhibits have been pouring in to every department. Livestock exhibits particularly are outstanding this year and every livestock barn is bulging with cattle, sheep, hogs, horses, poultry,. etc., including numerous animals of outstanding quality.

The 4-H department has been expanded this year by the construction of a new kitchen and dining hall, completed just in time for the opening of the fair. This facility, combined with the 4-H dormitory building erected last year, will make it possible to accommodate the largest number of 4-H club members in the history of the fair.

The midway will be crowded with rides, shows, educational exhibits and concessions of almost every conceivable nature. The demand for midway space this year has been terrific, equalled only by a similar demand for exhibit space in the huge exhibition building.

Among the outstanding exhibits to be presented are the Chicago Tribune's prize winning entries in the "Better Homes for Better Living" contest and General Motors' "Preview of Progress". The latter will be an outdoors demonstration of scientific developments, presented periodically afternoon and evening thrugh fair week. The presentations will be made from a specially constructed platform.

Judging in most exhibit departments will begin at 1:00 p. m. Tuesday, when all exhibits must be place, and will continue until finished. Dairy cattle breeds will be judged Wednesday, except 4-H dairy clases which will be judged Thursday. Beef breeds will be judged Thursday, as will sheep, swine and horses. The poultry judging will be on Wednesday.

On Wednesday morning, Aug. 17, a special morning matinee for children will be presented at 11 a. m. in front of the grandstand. Wednesday and Saturday are children's days at the fair and special prices for rides and shows will prevail until six o'clock each of those days.

Slicker Nabbed Hiding As Cook

No. 1 Confidence Man Caught In Alabama

Birmingham, Ala., Aug. 15 (AP)—One of the nation's slickest confidence men was arrested yesterday masquerading as a cook, the FBI reported.

Special Agent George D. King said G-men nabbed Dustean A. Youngs who was posing as a rooming house cook under the name of Bill Watkins.

The FBI listed him as one of the 10 most wanted fugitives in the country. He is scheduled for arraignment today before a U. S. commissioner on charges of mail fraud.

In Atlanta, special agent John Bills said federal officers had been searching the nation for Youngs for more than a year. Bills tabbed him one of the most fantastic confidence men in the post-war era.

He estimated Youngs and a partner had picked up between $80,000 and $100,000 during one brief stay in Atlanta in late 1947. They operated under the firm name of Farnsworth-Silversmith & Associates.

The pair established themselves in Atlanta and, using an Atlanta paper as reference, set out to sell advertisements for a city directory, the agent continued. After collecting the fees, they disappeared without publishing a directory, Bills related.

Syria's President And Premier Slain In Military Revolt

By SIMON ALLAWERDI

Damascus, Syria, Aug. 15 (AP)—Syra's president and premier were shot yesterday in a lightning military coup whose repercussions thundered through the explosive Middle East.

Col. Sami Hennawi, 51, Syrian hero of the Palestine war, led the group of senior army officers who overthrew the government of Marshall Husni Zayim.

A sharp burst from a firing squad at the Great Mazza military barracks ended the rule of the stocky little Zayim who had seized power four and a half months ago.

Zayim's bespectacled premier, Muhsen Bey Berazi, generally considered the brains of the regime, died with him.

Col. Hennawi issued communiques telling of the shootings. They called the dead rulers "traitors" and "tyrants," and ordered the army and police to join forces to maintain calm.

(Dispatches from Syria are subject to censorship).

Col. Hennawi summoned a meeting of about 50 prominent Syrian politicians last night. He told them Zayim was guilty of "conceit and despotism." He said the revolution was forced by the president's reckless spending of government funds and his failure to follow through on promises of reform.

The assembled politicians, including Faris El Khouri, Syria's delegate to the United Nations, called on former president Hasem Bey Attassi to form a new government. He accepted.

In the meantime Col. Hennawi, who proclaimed himself chief of the armed forces, will rule by decree with the aid of a supreme war council.

Vandenberg And Dulles For Slash In Arms Program

Washington, Aug. 15 (AP)—Senators Vandenberg (R-Mich) and Dulles (R-NY) moved today to shave $160,990,000 off the administration's $1,450,000,000 foreign arms program.

The two senators also proposed a series of amendments aimed at meshing the program into a North Atlantic defense plan to be drafted under terms of the recently-approved security treaty.

Vandenberg told a news conference the amendments he and Dulles have drafted would permit recapture of any equipment furnished by this country "if the program goes sour."

They also would permit Congress, acting by concurrent resolution which does not require a presidential signature, to end aid to any nation at any time.

Congress Won't Be Out By Labor Day, Says Lucas

Washington, Aug. 15 (AP)—Senate Democratic Leader Lucas said today it will be impossible for Congress to adjourn by Labor Day.

He would not venture to predict, however, how long Congress will stay in session.

Lucas talked to reporters after a White House conference between President Truman and Democratic congressional leaders.

"Unless there is a complete change in the attitude of senators on debate, there is no chance of finishing up by Labor Day," Lucas first said.

"When we get away, I wouldn't even predict."

A reporter asked: "Then you think it is virtually impossible to get away by Labor Day?"

"Virtually, nothing," Lucas replied. "It is impossible."

McNarney, above, chief of the Air Materiel Command, Dayton, Ohio, will head a special Defense Management Committee charged with saving money by eliminating duplication and red tape in the new Department of Defense. Ousted Spouse Turns Killer

Kansas Man Shoots Wife And Parents

Lyons, Kas., Aug. 15 (AP)—"Daddy shot grandpa and grandma and mommy, and daddy's dead, too."

The eldest of four children, one to seven years old, thus described to Sheriff Clarence Patterson a shooting in their grandparents' home.

The father, Donald Bunce, 25, died yesterday in a hospital. His wife, Mrs. Virginia Bunce, 24, is believed to have only a slight chance of recovery. She was shot above the heart.

The grandparents, Wilbur Shoemaker, 61, and his wife Anna, 58, died after Bunce invaded the home late Saturday night carrying a shotgun and with two pistols stuck in his belt.

Shoemaker, awakened by the firing, obtained his own shotgun and exchanged shots with Bunce, Patterson said. Bunce was hit in the chest, but the sheriff said he apparently placed a pistol to his head after being hit by a blast from the older man's shotgun.

Mrs. Bunce had filed suit for divorce last Thursday. She obtained a court order to prevent Bunce from molesting her or the children.

Patterson said Bunce had threatened to "get the whole outfit" if he did not obtain custody of the children.

Smuggler Linked To Deep Freezer Gifts In Capital

Washington, Aug. 15 (AP)—Senator McCarthy (R-Wis) said today an employee of the company reported to have paid for deep freezers sent to Mrs. Harry S. Truman and a number of other notables had engaged in "attempted smuggling activities."

McCarthy emphasized that he does not think there was anything "even remotely improper" on Mrs. Truman's part.

The Wisconsin senator made his statement at the opening of today's five percenter hearing. The Senate Investigating committee is trying to find out whether improper influence with government officials figures in the activities of persons who charge fees for help in landing government contracts.

Albert J. Gross, a Milwaukee manufacturer, told the committee last week that his company sent deep freezers to Maj. Gen. Harry H. Vaughan, President Truman's military aide, and a number of other prominent Washingtonians. He said the units were paid for by the Albert Verley company, a Chicago perfume house.

Pistol Bullets Miss Grand Trunk Fireman

Charlotte, Mich., Aug. 15 (AP)—Grand Trunk Railroad fireman C. C. Kolvoord is thankful that locomotive cabs are made of steel.

Three shots from an automatic revolver — apparently fired wantonly at Grand Trunk passenger train No. six, enroute Sunday from Chicago to Port Huron, just narrowly missed Kolvoord.

They splattered near the window behind which Kolvoord was working. Engineer Calvin Trump stopped the train and called the sheriff.

Right Wingers Run Republic Next 4 Years

Pro-Soviets Retreat To River Elbe

By BRACK CURRY

Frankfurt, Germany, Aug. 15 (AP)—Western Germany has handed it right-wing parties a mandate to direct the new federal republic for the crucial next four years.

More than 24,000,000 Germans swarmed to the polls yesterday, in their first free election since Hitler took over in 1933. They handed Communism its fourth major defeat in Western Europe since the war. France, Italy and West Berlin said "no" to the Reds in earlier elections.

Rebuff For Moscow

Western Germany's rebuff marks the retreat of Communism to the River Elbe where the Red army stands guard.

West German voters also rejected Socialism and extreme right pro-Nazi groups, giving control of the 402-member parliament to the free enterprise parties whose policies have the confidence of American officials.

In bright, hot weather, the people strolled to the heavily-policed polls in sober family groups. There were a few street fights in some cities but for the most part voting was orderly.

Topping the popular vote with 7,356,025 were the conservative Christian Democrats.

Close behind with 6,932,303 were the Social Democrats who want to nationalize big industries. They closely resemble Britain's ruling labor party.

Party Chief Spurned

The Free Democrats, who favor the free enterprise system with reservations, surged into third place with 2,827,948 votes.

By joining with the Christian Democrats they can assure a con-

One Marinette Polio Case; No Additional Nurses Needed Now

Miss Emma Zeratsky, superintendent of nurses at Marinette General hospital, today noon said there is temporarily no need of additional nurses there to handle what was previously described as a polio "epidemic."

The announcement was made by the nurses' superintendent at Marinette after appeals in Escanaba for nurses to go to Marinette for the "emergency." Miss Zeratsky said there is only one polio case now in the hospital, a 32-year-old man who is in a respirator. One other case was dismissed from the hospital yesterday.

Marinette General hospital now has enough nurses and Miss Zeratsky said that arrangements are being made there to handle the situation locally.

C&NW Train Critically Injures Bark River Man

Napoleon "Poley" Belanger, 47, of Bark River, was critically injured about midnight last night, apparently by a Chicago & North Western train, when he was struck while crossing the tracks at the Bark River station.

The gravely injured man was found between the tracks and the station platform at 12:30 a. m. today by Hector J. Larson of Bark River.

The Bark River physician who treated Belanger said the injured man told him he had been struck by the northbound C&NW streamliner, which would place the time of the accident at about 11:25 o'clock last night.

Railroad officials said it has not been determined whether Belanger was struck by the northbound streamliner. There is the possibility that it may have been one of two ore trains that later passed through Bark River.

Belanger's condition is so critical that he could not be moved for x-ray examination and that blood plasma and whole blood transfusions were being given. The man received extensive and deep lacerations of the scalp and forehead, a puncture laceration of the left thigh, multiple contusions and abrasions over the whole body, and possibly a fractured spine and pelvis.

Still conscious when he was found, Belanger was rushed by ambulance to St. Francis hospital. Blood donors from Bark River, including F. C. Courville, Hector J. Larson, Leonard Niquete, Lawrence Kleikamp and Melvin Teal went to the hospital this morning in response to appeals for blood of their type.

Belanger had been employed as a section hand on the railroad until about a month ago. He was born in Bark River and was particularly well known for his interest in baseball. He served the Bark River team as utility man and wore a uniform at the games. Belanger is not married.

Deputy Sheriff Emil Johnson who investigated the accident said he believes Belanger was struck by one of the southbound trains of empty ore cars, enroute from Escanaba to Iron River. Belanger's cap was along the track about 37 feet north of the place where the injured man was found, indicating that the train that struck him was going south, the deputy said.

Belanger had played in the Bark River-Powers ball game yesterday afternoon and was seen in Bark River a short time before the accident. Friends of his said that Belanger was walking the path from the east to the west and had to cross the tracks to reach a restaurant where he intended to have lunch.

Dow Will Build Big New Ammonia Plant

Midland, Mich., Aug. 15 (AP)—Dow Chemical Co. will build a $5,000,000 ammonia plant at Freeport, Tex., President Leland I. Doan announced today.

Construction, Doan said, will start about Jan. 1 and will be completed late next year. The plant will have a capacity of approximately 100 tons a day, he noted.

In manufacturing the ammonia, the plant will utilize hydrogen available from a dow chlorine plant already located at Freeport, and nitrogen from the air. One thousand horsepower gas engines will be used for compression of the air and hydrogen.

Promising agricultural markers and generally broadening uses for ammonia led to the company's decision to build the plant, Doan said.

Japan Reviews Progress Made Since V-J Day

Tokyo, Aug. 15 (AP)—The fourth anniversary of Japan's decision to surrender to the Allies passed today without any direct reminders of their military collapse in World War II. The Japanese were told instead how much progress they have made since the war.

The only official statement by an occupation official came from W. J. Sebald, acting U. S. political adviser to Japan. He advised the Japanese to read again General MacArthur's constitution day message of last May 3.

In that message MacArthur said his purpose was to continue to advance the transition of the occupation "from the stern rigidity of a military operation to the friendly guidance of a protective force."

This would be carried out, the Allied commander said, as rapidly as the Japanese people were able to "assume the attending autonomous responsibility."

Newspaper editorials reported on Japan's postwar progress, taking a general view that the Japanese have followed well the Allies' conditions.

Dr. Franklin H. Top, medical director of the hospital, said it was "a mild case of the non-paralytic type, centering in the muscles of the right thigh."

U. P. State Fair Opens Tuesday

THIS is Upper Peninsula State Fair week. The big fair opens in Escanaba tomorrow and continues through next Sunday, Aug. 21. It promises to be the biggest and best of a long series of successful U. P. State Fairs. Certainly if good weather prevails the fair will reach new heights of popularity because the exhibits and the entertaniment features outshine anything presented here previously.

The livestock entries are pouring in at the fairgrounds. Upper Peninsula farmers are showing more stock than they have for many years and their exhibits this year are supplemented by livestock from the Lower Peninsula. All but poultry and dairy cattle departments were open this year to state-wide competition. It is to the credit of Upper Peninsula farmers that they favor the state-wide competition because it not only stimulates the competition but makes it possible for U. P. farmers to improve their own stock.

The U. P. State Fair brings together in friendly relationship the farm folks and the city neighbors. They get a chance to talk together, to exchange ideas and to understand each other's problems.

The fair is said to be the show window of the Upper Peninsula. It is that, and more. It not only provides the opportunity to display the developments in agriculture and industry of our area, but also to educate for better living, to suggest new ideas and methods of impovements at home and at work.

Perhaps the outstanding phase of the U. P. State Fair is the encouragement it gives to boys and girls. The Fair has always placed particular emphasis and interest upon the 4-H club program, which is distinctly a program for youth, particularly rural youth. This year new facilities to accommodate these boys and girls have been provided at the fairgrounds, with the result that the 4-H exhibits, also among the best at the fair, this year will be expanded.

Plan to attend the U. P. State Fair, not just once but many times. It will require hours to see all the fair has to offer for you.

Ford Workers Vote 7 to 1 For Strike

THE employes of- the Ford Motor company in Michigan have voted overwhelmingly to authorize union officials to call a strike in support of new contract demands. The vote for approval was 7 to 1, which corresponds to the results of balloting taken previously by the union.

The UAW officials, urging the membership to approve the strike proposal, said that a favorable vote would not necessarily mean that a strike would be called but would strengthen the union's position at the bargaining table. This is true, of course, but the membership can anticipate a strike in view of developments in the negotiations for a new contract. The union has made extravagant demands that are certain to be rejected by the Ford Motor company. The company insists that it will not consider company-financed pensions for its employes, as demanded by the union, and appears equally adamant aginst proposed wage increases.

If a strike develops on against the Ford plants in Michigan, it may be anticipated that such a strike will be a long one and a costly one, for both the company and the union members. Industry in general has stiffened its resistance to wage demands for wage boosts because competitive influences have returned to the nation's markets. The trend is towards greater efficiency and lower costs. Higher wages, of course, are in conflict with this trend.

The Ford Motor company has offered to freeze present high wages for a 12 months period, an offer that is unsatisfactory to the union even though this in effect constitutes a pay raise because prices are dropping. A continued reduction is anticipated in the next 12 months, unless forces such as a new round of general wage increases are applied to reverse the trend.

Ford employes are unlikely to gain by a prolonged strike. The Greyhound drivers went back to work last week after a strike of 105 days and they got exactly one mill per mile increase in their wages over and above what was offered to them at the time the strike was called. It will take many years for the drivers to recover the earnings that they lost in three and a half months of idleness.

Truman Should Drop Some Of His Cronies

PRESIDENT Truman has been given much recognition as a man who remains true to his friends, but it appears that he will be stretching the loyalty idea a little too far if he doesn't soon clarify the dilemma in which he now finds himself.

Enough has been revealed already to prove that Maj. Gen. Harry H. Vaughan, John Maragon and the other White House cronies have used their friendship with the president for their own selfish ends. Truman's friends, it appears, are causing him much more grief than his enemies.

True to form, President Truman still insists he has the has the utmost confidence in General Vaughan. That may be all right for Mr. Truman, but it doesn't satisfy John Q. Public.

President Harding had has Fall and Daugherty, good old friends who got him into an awful mess that likely brought about his untimely death. President Truman should take a lesson from history. By this time, he should have his suspicions about what General Vaughan has been doing behind his back. His duty is plain. He should demand a complete investigation. We recall that as a U. S. senator Mr. Truman was quite adept in handling probes into matters of this kind.

This government by cronies does not set well with the people. They look to President Truman to start cleaning house.

STATE FERRY SERVICE
(Menominee Herald-Leader)

The Escanaba Press states editorially that the Manistique Lions club has urged that Upper Peninsula communities quit quarreling about supplemental ferry routes across Lake Michigan and concentrate upon the improvement of ferry service at the Straits of Mackinac. "The proposal deserves generous support from all peninsula communities," says the Press, which heretofore has been a loud voice crying the desirability of making Escanaba the U. P. terminal of a second inter-peninsula ferry service.

The Herald-Leader believes that state ferry service at the Straits of Mackinac should be improved, but it also believes that no amount of improvement there will change a situation which led Menominee several years ago to propose that the state institute a second ferry service between Frankfort and Menominee. This situation is:

1—Much inter-peninsula traffic now routed by the Straits goes that way only from necessity, because it originates in or is bound for the more populous central and western portions of the U. P.

2—Much Michigan-to-Michigan traffic is now routed through Wisconsin because of better Lake Michigan ferry service to Wisconsin ports than to U. P. ports, and even more traffic—particularly tourist traffic—is now lost to the U. P. for the same reason.

3—Improvements are asked for Straits ferries that serve a large business from the western Upper Peninsula that can be routed by way of Chicago to lower Michigan cities with no mileage increase, and with a saving of ferry wait and fee.

SPENDING AS A CURE
(The Kansas City Star)

Planners in the new deal government group are reported to feel that the budget isn't far enough out of balance. They want it so far out that there will be real inflation which they figure furnish jobs for everybody.

It would be wonderful if a family could spend its way to prosperity by going more heavily into debt each year. The trouble seems to be that some time pay day comes. And it is hard to believe that government has invented some magic that will relieve it of going broke if it keeps on living beyond its means, just as is the case with a family.

WHERE WILL IT END?
(Grand Rapids Press)

Secretary of Commerce Charles Sawyer, visiting Michigan for a survey of economic conditions, predicted an upturn for business throughout the nation. That squares with the views of other government appraisers who have been saying all along that the deflation would be short and mild.

According to some business experts, the upturn will begin in the fourth quarter of this year and carry through most, if not all, of 1950. What will happen after that seems to be anybody's guess; but for the present, concern over business conditions is declining.

Taking its place, however, is worry over another financial problem. Demands for American money, both at home and abroad, are multiplying as veterans, farmers and foreign nations all seek larger subsidies. The result is that our government is running short of money to meet its obligations. Tax estimates fall about $5 billion below requirements in the current year. Borrowing—and spending—are expected to reach high levels in the next few months.

With the public debt already fabulously high, and no cessation in the demand for government money, thoughtful folk are beginning to wonder where it will all end. Undertaking to assume responsibility for the financial security of the underprivileged throughout the world seems to be a road that has no turning.

Some punches at a prize fight are music to the fans even though played on a busted horn.

Nothing can be done in a day if the day is always tomorrow.

Before and after getting your hair trimmed is the long and short of it.

SOME COMMON MISTAKES THAT NEED CORRECTING

Radio quizzmaster: "The Ural mountains are in the United States of Soviet Russia.

Not so; there is no such country. The initials U. S. S. R. stand for the correct name: Union of Soviet Socialist Republics.

A syndicated columnist: "The word sincere is from the Latin sine, 'without,' and cera, 'wax,' for potters of ancient days used wax in smoothing over the imperfections in the finish of their jars, vases, urns, etc. A piece that was perfect was said to be sine cera, 'without wax.'"

Nonsense. The word sincere is from the Latin sincerus, "from sin, 'simple,' plus cerus, connected with cresco, 'to grow up, spring forth,' hence, 'simply grown,' hence, 'pure, unmixed, genuine, hence, upright, honorable, sincere.'"—Cassell's Latin Dictionary.

Muskegon: I wish you'd explain why a speaker on a local station habitually uses such pronunciations as "verseez" for verses, "churcheez" for churches, "classeez" for classes, etc.—L. M.

A. It's a new and zany fad that is sweeping radio. But it's entirely erroneous. Here's how it came about:

Someone in radio discovered that certain words from the Latin (from the Greek) ending in 'is form the plural by changing -is to -es, as crisis, crises; analysis, analyses; parenthesis, parentheses, etc.

Now the -es of such plurals is pronounced "eez." Crisis is pronounced KRY-siss, crises is pronounced KRY-seez, and so on.

When the plurals crises, analyses, parentheses, etc., with the correct "eez" pronunciation, began to be heard on the networks, announcers, commentators, newscasters and other broadcasters pricked up their ears and said, "Ah, that's for me."

Thereupon, they began sounding "eez" at the ends of all plurals ending in -es, not understanding that the "eez" is correct only in -es words whose singular ending is -is.

* * *

Such words as class, verse, church are not -is words. And the "eez" pronunciation is nonsensical. Classes is pronounced: class-ez; churches is: church-ez; verses is: ver-sez, etc.

Hoover Report To Be Riddled

BY MARQUIS CHILDS

Washington.—Happy birthday, dear Mr. Hoover, happy birthday!

The chorus sounded across the country as Herbert Hoover observed his 75th birthday and, having taken so much public abuse, he must be genuinely surprised at the volume of praise and congratulation.

While they speak kind words about him here in Washington, the evidence grows that the birthday present which would mean most of all to Mr. Hoover may be denied to him. Or it finally may be served up in such a distorted and misshapen form as to be worthless.

That present is, of course, the carrying out of the reorganization of the federal government. The former president considers the report to be the crowning work of his long career. If he could think that he had brought efficiency and economy to the sprawling bulk of the federal bureaucracy, Mr. Hoover would indeed be happy.

SENATE TO CONSIDER

Next Tuesday the senate will consider Plan No. 1 and Plan No. 2, embodying Hoover commission recommendations.

Plan No. 1, creating a department of welfare combining various agencies and bureaus seems to have little chance of approval.

Plan No. 2 which, in Mr. Hoover's own words, is intended to "revitalize the much-denuded department of labor," has a slightly better chance of being approved by a majority—at least 49 members present and voting—of the senate. But if this happens, it will be in spite of the strenuous efforts of a lobby backed by those who in the past have professed to love Mr. Hoover most dearly.

An organization calling itself Unemployment Benefit Advisors, Inc., of Milwaukee and Chicago, has been lobbying intensively against Plan No. 2. Unemployment Benefit Advisors has had a fund of $200,000 contributed by large corporations throughout the country and especially the big auto and oil companies.

Chief change effected by Plan No. 2 would be to transfer the bureau administering the United States employment service and the unemployment insurance service from the federal security agency to the department of labor. The big corporations are fearful that the department of labor might alter the present system of "experience rating" under which they get large rebates for "stabilizing" employments.

LOBBY IS OPPOSED

They apparently have been encouraged in this fear by Stanley Rector, chief lobbyist for Unemployment Benefit Advisors. In recent issues of his propaganda letter, "The Advisor," Rector referred disparagingly to Hoover's "traits of character" that had "not served him so well politically."

"I do not think any reasonable employer would have prejudices on that account," Hoover told a senate committee when asked about the danger of pressure from the unions to alter present regulation. ". . . We have to believe that the departments of government are going to act on behalf of all the citizens of the country. . ."

"I might have to believe it," Rector noted in the advisory, "but I won't until I have to."

Experts in the department of labor say that regulations covering "experience rating," fixed by the separate state legislatures, could not be changed by executive order. The senate commitee on expenditures in the executive departments voted eight to three to disapprove Plan No. 2, alhough some members indicated they were reserving judgment until it came to the floor.

The Citizens Committee for the Hoover Report claims that recommendations already put into effect will permit annual savings of $1,250,000,000. This is based on a billion dollars saved by the armed services and $250,000,000 in the general services bill.

But most of the recommendations are still to be considered. The seven plans now before congress embody only 15 of the 87 steps that can be taken in this way. One of the toughest of all—public works and resources—is almost certain to be sabotaged by pork-barrelers like Sen. John L. McClellan of Arkansas. House cleaning, which could be done by the bureaus and agencies without congressional action, has for the most part not been done.

If Mr. Hoover is to get his fine streamlined birthday cake, a lot more pushing will be necessary. And congress will have to move faster than it has moved at this session.

Giving the Little Girl a Great Big Hand

Good Evening

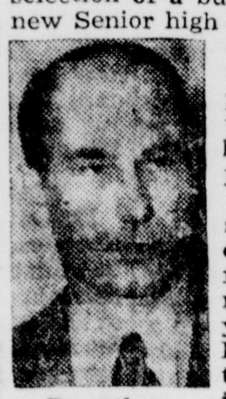
BUILDING SITE—The Escanaba board of education is in that particular phase of pre-construction planning that calls for the selection of a building site for a new Senior high school. Undoubtedly it is one of the most difficult phases of the whole Senior high construction program.



Dunathan

Public understanding and cooperation will be required in the next couple years — perhaps longer— before the final decision is made.

In recent meeting the board rejected an offer made by one property owner, after the board's buildings and grounds committee studied the offer carefully. The committee recommended against acceptance, holding that both the location of the property and the price were unsatisfactory.

* * *

DESIRABLE— What should be considered in the selection of a Senior high school building site?

There are several factors, including a location central to the city's population, with an eye to the future growth of Escanaba; a site large enough to adequately accommodate the building and sufficient grounds for essential outdoor activities of the students; and property whose purchase cost will not be exorbitant.

Even casual examination of the problem will reveal the many difficulties to be encountered in making a site selection.

* * *

WHERE WILL IT GROW — —While it is certain that Escanaba's eastern boundary will remain constant at the bay shore line, there is much speculation on how the city will otherwise expand in the future.

Will it spearpoint westward along US-2-41, main line traffic artery connecting Ludington street? Or will it continue a shoreline development southward along M-35? Or perhaps it may jump city limits boundaries and begin "fringe development" that is the bane of good city planning.

It can be assumed, however, that Escanaba's growth will be orderly and within the desired geographical boundaries. If this is so, the location of a new Senior high school building in relation to the city's population center should not be difficult to establish—at least on paper.

Acquisition of such a desirable site may be impossible because of high property costs.

* * *

GOING UP—Property values have gone up in Escanaba, not only in the last few years, but over a long period of time. The highest values are now near the city's population center.

These rising values are indicated in figures on previous purchases of property by the school board. There are four lots in the Barr School location. The first two were acquired in 1898 for a total of $550, the third in 1901 for $750, and the fourth in 1938 cost $1,321.86.

The Washington school location, seven lots comprising a half-block, purchased in 1899, cost a total of $1,400. In 1930 one more lot was purchased and cost $6,000.

It can be pointed out that the price per lot varies according to the location of the lot, the inclination of the owner, and whether the lot has been developed.

Occasionally there is still the opportunity for "bargains," and acquisition of the building housing Catherine Bonifas Technical school is an example. Once the office building of the defunct Delta Brewing company, the school board acquired the brick building and two lots fronting on Ludington street for the nominal sum of $12,500. That was in 1943.

Generally it can be observed that property values will probably hold at their present higher levels in Escanaba for some time to come. There is little possibility that a site for the new Senior High, in a central location, can be acquired at a figure anywhere near "bargain" prices—except through some fortunate circumstance not now foreseen.

* * *

LARGE ENOUGH— Another problem confronting the board is determination of the size of the area needed for a new Senior High building.

The board has interviewed many architects in discussing plans for the proposed structure. Some of the architects advocated an area of from 20 to 40 acres for the building! Others had little to say on the subject of site. Most of them were of the opinion that there should be ample grounds surrounding the building.

When a final site selection is made in very probably will be the result of compromise. Certainly not all of the desired factors are attainable. The public will understand this.

Star Chamber

Dear Editor:

The action of the Senate Judiciary Committee is an outrage to the American public, to the United States Senate, and to Tom Clark, all of whom are victims of its star chamber proceedings.

I condemn the committee's failure to give consideration to the fundamental importance of permitting Mr. Clark, as nominee to the Supreme Court of the United States, to appear before it and permit members of the committee to examine him in his own interest and in the interest of a properly informed Senate opinion.

The motion to report favorably the nomination was accepted as a substitute for a motion to request Mr. Clark's attendance before the committee as a witness. By refusing to permit a vote on the question of Mr. Clark's appearance the committee shut off all opportunity to examine him. An orderly determination of his qualifications is thus circumvented.

Various matters now of public record should be the subject of open hearing. Mr. Clark should be given an opportunity to testify regarding them. For such matters to remain on the record without a fair opportunity for Mr. Clark to make reply can only leave open the question of his fitness for a lifetime appointment to the highest judicial office in the land.

To confirm Mr. Clark by sharp parliamentary tactics can be neither in the public interest nor to Mr. Clark's benefit. As a justice of the Supreme Court he will forever be barred from reply to questions which should not remain unanswered.

Homer Ferguson,
U. S. Senator.

U.S.A. Is Overpopulated

Dear Sir:

Many no longer can get seats on busses. In banks, in postoffices, many are delayed in queues from 5 minutes to a ¼ hour. Such need not be told we already have painful overpopulation in USA.

We rapidly are exhausting our natural resources. Lead, zinc are almost gone. Oil is none too plentiful. We are burning up natural gas that took millions of years to accumulate.

Considering all above, why did Congress enact the Displaced Persons laws. It marks the beginning of the destruction of the Quota Acts.

Yours truly,
Edwin Grant,
San Francisco.

Better Seating

Dear Editor:

Some time ago there was a letter in this column criticizing the Softball Association for hogging the best space at the lighted field for its scoring and announcing booth. The criticism was deserved and I was glad to see it in the column.

However since then the association has moved the announcing booth back quite a distance and several sections of bleachers have been placed where the booth formerly was located. I believe that in fairness to the softball association, this should be publicly recorded in the forum column. The association deserves credit for correcting a bad situation.

A Bleacherite.

I am sure we will scrap at least half of the Taft-Hartley act at this sssion. We will just have to keep whittling away at it. You can't always move a mountain all at once.—Sen. Claude Pepper (D) of Florida.

The Washington Merry-Go-Round

(Editor's Note—While Drew Pearson is on brief vacation, the Washington Merry-Go-Round is being written by his old partner, Robert S. Allen.)

BY ROBERT S. ALLEN

Washington. — Supreme Court Justice William O. Douglas found himself in a perplexing crossfire during his recent mountain-climbing trip in the hinterlands of Iran (ancient Persia).

On one hand he was the target of Soviet blasts as a "big devil spy," and on the other of Iranian censorship and iron-handed military control.

The Russian fulminations were publicized. But the iron curtain that Iran slammed down on Douglas has come to light only since his return to the U. S.

Shah Mohammed Riza Pahlevi, who comes to the U. S. in November, personally ordered the blackout on Douglas:

This is the untold story:

From American officials in Iran, Douglas learned that desperate famine conditions prevail in Azerbaijan, northwest province that adjoins Russia. A combination of extreme winter and severe spring drought had destroyed crops and most of the herds of the area. Hundreds have died of hunger. To the outrage of American authorities, the Iranian government has done very little to ameliorate the tragic situation.

In one notorious instance, even that little was looted for personal gains.

The military commander of the district diverted a 400-ton shipment of relief grain to private traders and pocketed the proceeds.

U. S. officials are profoundly concerned about the explosive Azerbaijan situation because it plays squarely into Communist hands. Even under normal conditions, the historic area is one of the critical tinderboxes of the world. Azerbaijan was occupied for several years by the Red army, which built a number of roads and made strenuous efforts to woo the tribesmen. Also, Russian agents abound, and are making the most of the Iranian government's incompetence, neglect and corruption.

Douglas's itinerary included a visit to Tabriz, capital of Azerbaijan. The day before he was to fly there, he had lunch with the Shah. The young ruler talked a glowing line of reform and national development. But he froze up when Douglas mentioned casually his impending trip to Tabriz.

Two hours later, the U. S. embassy was officially notified that the Shah had barred Douglas from flying to Azerbaijan.

Request for an explanation for this extraordinary action brought the reply, "Evil reports are emanating from there. The reports are unfavorable to the Shah and the government."

Note: Although receiving huge oil royalties, the Iranian government tried to shake down the U. S. for 200,000 bushels of free grain for famine relief.

MIRACLE

There is something new under the sun!

John L. Lewis and Interior Secretary Julius Krug are in harmonious agreement on the bill for more stringent mine-safety regulations and enforcement.

The measure was introduced by Senator Matt Neely, D., W. Va. In the past, Lewis has been a sulphurous critic of Krug and James Boyd, director of the U. S. bureau of mines. They aided Neely in drafting the bill and, because of this, there was uncertainty as to Lewis's attitude. But he has given his blessing. Despite this unity, however, the legislation has made little headway.

Neely has complained to Democratic floor leaders about this. But, overwhelmed by a backlog of major priority measures, they have given him no assurance when his bill would be reached. Best outlook is not until nevt session.

PRACTICAL JOKER

New York's Representative Vito Marcantonio follows a militant leftist line, but he has his light moments.

Stalking into the Democratic cloakroom, he entered a phone booth near a group of lounging congressmen. Leaving the booth door open so he could be heard, Marcantonio said to the operator, "I want Moscow, Russia, person-to-person call. I want to talk to Premier Josef Stalin. Make it snappy."

The listening congressmen perked up tehir ears.

"What's that, operator?" yelled Marcantonio. "You say the premier is busy and can't talk to me now? No, I don't want to talk to anyone else. Tell him I'll call later."

Marcantonio emerged from the booth with a dead-pan.

"You really weren't calling Stalin, were you?" asked Representative Helen Gahagan Douglas, D., Calif.

"Sure I was," replied Marcantonio, still dead-pan. "I telephone the Kremlin three or four times a week to get the pitch. That's the way I know how to follow the party line. Get the dope right from headquarters."

TRUMAN'S RELATIVES

Discussing their family trees the other day, President Truman and freshman Congressman James Noland of Indiana decided they may be distantly related. Noland reported he had relatives in Miussouri with the same name.

"So have I," said Truman. "In fact, I have two maiden aunts out there named Noland."

With a chuckle, the president wrote the name of one, Ethel Noland of Independence, Mo., on a slip of paper and handed it to the Indiana Democrat.

"Write her," he suggested. "She's a great authority on our family tree. Maybe she can establish a link between my family and yours."

PROMINENT GUEST

Prominent among the guests at a farewell party for Mrs. Perle Masta, new U. S. minister to Luxembourg, was Vice-President Barkley, whose lively interest in Mrs. Carlton Hadley, St. Louis widow, has attracted much attention. At the request of other guests, orchestra leader Sidney played "St. Louis Woman," "Meet Me In St. Louis," "The Merry Widow" and "Take Me Out To The Bll Game." Barkley beamed gaily and enjoyed it hugely trolling bloc in parliament and will be able to form a conservative cabinet.

Right Wingers Win In Germany

Trailing the field of the major parties were the Communists who slumped from ten per cent of the popular vote in 1946 state elections to about six per cent—1,360,469 votes.

Even Max Reimann, fiery chief of the Communist party in West Germany, was spurned by his home district.

Rejected by the voters, Reimann will nevertheless probably be named to the parliament as a member for North Rhine-Westphalia under the proportional representation system.

Minor parties and the votes they polled were:

Parliamentary seats alloted to the parties on the basis of completed election returns:

Christian Democrats, 139; Social Democrats, 131; Free Democrats, 52; German party, 17; Bavarian party, 17; Communists 15; Economic Reconstructionists, 12; Center party, 10; German Right party, 5; Emergency Association, one; Radical Socialist Freedom party, one; Independents, two.

The Christian Democrats carried seven of the 11 West German states—Bavaria, North Rhine-Westphalia, Scheswigholstein, South Baden, Wuerttemberg-Baden, Rhineland-Palatinate, and Wuerttemberg- Hohenzollern.

The Social Democrats led in Hesse, Hamburg, Bremen, and Lower Saxony.

Men All Fall For Teacher Of Judo

By HAL BOYLE

New York, (AP)—Men fall head over heels for hazel-eyed Gale Vance. She really throws them.

One reason they find this attractive blonde so irresistible is that she teaches jujitsu and judo. Miss Vance is one of the few lady instructors in these bone-bending pastimes.

Boyle

"Jujitsu is really just a sport," she said. "But judo is the science of dirty fighting — you use it when you're out for the kill.

"I like to teach dirty fighting. It's the quickest way of disposing of your opponent."

Some feminine athletes are built like telephone booths. This isn't true of Gale. Her muscles are well disposed. They never bulge. They ripple. Her physical charm as well as her physical strength have won her several offers to become a professional wrestler.

"I turned them down," she said. "It is too undignified."

During the war Gale was a member of a judo team that toured Army camps and demonstrated deadly tricks to the troops. I saw her in Manila in 1945, and her 225-pound partner was wearing a broken wrist.

"I guess I put on a little too much pressure," said Gale, "but he should have told me I was hurting him."

Miss Vance at present is teaching jujitsu to vacationers at Ma Holder's Youngs Gap hotel, a resort in the Catskills.

"Many wives are eager to learn the holds," she said. "They want to be able to throw their husbands over their heads. But I teach them to throw a person over their hips instead. It's much easier."

Jujitsu, incidentally, has a number of advantages for the forlorn female living in a man's world.

"It is a wonderful way to reduce," said Gale, "and a girl needs to learn only a few holds to be able to deal with mashers and muggers."

What is the best way for a laday to cope with an annoying subway wolf?

"If you want to discourage him quietly without making a scene," said Gale, "one way is to put your heel on his shinbone and press down—hard.

"An elbow is a very handy article. You just give him the sharp end of it in his face. If he's a tall guy and you can't reach his face, jab the elbow fast into his solar plexus or his ribs. You'd be surprised how easy a rib breaks. Of course the knee is always good, too, but you have to be in the right position to use it.

"Generally I try to teach the girls how to get away from a man—rather than to kill the guy."

Masher Takes Hint

Once Miss Vance was bothered herself by a Broadway masher. She finally turned on him and said modestly, "I teach jujitsu." The man took the hint and went mashing elsewhere.

Another time she was walking alone at night to her home in the Bronx when a scalawag sprang out and grabbed at her purse.

"I clamped on a wrist lock, kicked his feet out from under him and walked on," she said. "I felt like kicking him while he was down, but I didn't want to take an unfair advantage. I didn't bother to see if he was hurt. He didn't deserve to be looked at."

She gets some unusual pupils. Recently a gentle old white-haired lady came to her.

"My son won't do what I tell him anymore," she said. "I want to learn some kind of a trick so I can hold him still while I give him a good spanking."

"How old is your boy?" asked Gale.

"He's 45," said the old lady, "but he still needs spanking."

Fair Visitors May Have Chest X-Rayed

A mobile chest X-ray unit of the state department of health will be at the U. P. State Fair Aug. 16-21 to give free chest X-rays to all Upper Peninsula people, it was announced today by Dr. W. C. Harrison, health officer, Delta-Menominee district health department, local sponsoring body for the X-ray survey.

The X-ray unit will operate in the exhibition building at the fair grounds.

Stressing the importance of an annual chest X-ray, Dr. Harrison pointed out that it is the best device for finding tuberculosis in early stages when the disease can best be cured. He emphasized that although TB is still the leading disease killer between the ages of 15 and 45, studies of the Michigan Tuberculosis Association show that the peak of deaths from TB in Michigan last year occurred in men of 40 years of age or older. "To bring this adult TB death toll down and to protect children in the homes, it is imperative that every adult get a chest X-ray," he declared.

A chest X-ray takes only a minute, requires no disrobing and is perfectly safe, he said. After the film is read by a doctor, a confidential report is sent to the person X-rayed, Dr. Harrison said.

Beaver Ponds To Be Studied

Effect On Fishing To Be Considered

The effect of beaver dams on the productivity of trout streams is slated for investigation in the upper peninsula by the conservation department's institute for fisheries research.

Various changes that occur on known-age beaver ponds will followed on selected river and creek locations. Attention will be given to the physico-chemical conditions in these waters, availability of fish food, age and growth of beaver pond trout, creel census, predatory animal pressure, and the effects of the dams as fish barriers during spawning seasons.

The study also will consider the effects of waterfowl and other fur-bearers frequenting the ponds.

Michigan Happenings In Washington

ESTHER VAN WAGONER TUFTY

Would General Douglas MacArthur get the same kind of triumphant reception given General Dwight Eisenhower on his return home for the first time since the war end?

Probably not. The timing is not close enough to the emotional relief that comes with the cease-fire order....to make a crowd go wild as the conquering hero rolls down Fifth Avenue in New York or Constitution Avenue in the nation's capital.

President Truman is not denying the general his hour of glory ....but is leaving it up to him to accept or reject the official invitation from a joint Senate and House committee.

Veteran Charles Potter says "the military halo" is gone. But Congressman Earl Michener said he was here when Pershing came home from World War I, and when Eisenhower came back from Europe....and expects the third big return to be of MacArthur from the victory in the Pacific.

Michigan congressmen would like to hear what MacArthur would testify to on complex China, altho the General says he's no authority on that country's struggle against communism.

As William Blackney, a Republican member of the Armed Services committee, says: "Frankly, I would like to have advantage of his study and observations in the Far East....he knows the Oriental mind....with others it's theory."

Albert Engel, who has visited the Orient on an investigating committee, is not as pessimistic about China as the great majority in Congress. He's reassured by the character of the Chinese themselves who love their land and are loyal to it and not to ideologies.

But Charles Potter is equally pessimistic. "Our foreign policy in China has been extremely weak ....we sold China down the river in Yalta....it's far too late now to do anything about it....in fact, I don't think we can save Korea."

But he agrees with Engel that communism....or any other ideology....will never take China.

Earl Michener, of Adrian, said "MacArthur is not in China but I would be controlled by his judgment....for he's one of the few experts available."

The "Hooper-rating of Herbert Hoover isn't very high with Michigan Republicans if judged by the number who listened to his birthday broadcast from California.

Five Republican members selected at random were asked their reaction to the former and only living president's Palo Alto speech.

All five (Congressmen Gerald Ford, Jesse Wolcott, George Dondero, John Bennett and Albert Engel) confessed they had not heard the broadcast which warned Americans they were half way down the back road to collectivism.

Not that this is a barometer of their affection for Hoover, they all were quick to add.

It isn't well known, but one of a small group quietly to see Mr. Hoover every time he's in town is Congressman Albert Engel of Muskegon.

Soo Group May See Bill Signed

Potter Makes Request To President

Washington, D. C.—Congressman Charles Potter of Cheboygan has asked President Truman if a Michigan delegation may be on hand for the signing of Soo Locks bill next week.

Slated to be at the ceremony if the invitation comes through are the nine members of the Soo Locks Centennial Celebration Committee: Chairman George Osborn, publisher of the Sault Ste. Marie News; vice chairman Russell Boyle, publisher of the "Michigan Tradesmen"; former Senator Prentiss Brown; Carl Sadan, of Detroit; Vic Knox, speaker of the State Legislature; Gene Alleman, of Michigan Press Association; Senator James T. Milliken, of Traverse City; Dr. Lewis Besse, Secretary of the Michigan Historical Commission; and Charles Platz, of Rogers City.

The bill provides for the setting up of Commission to help in the centennial celebration.

The 1:30 o'clock service was read by Father Anthony Schloss, bouquets of pink and white gladioli forming the background in the rectory study.

Kathleen Scott was her sister's maid of honor and Lewis Shutl of Marquette was best man. John Scott, the bride's brother, ushered.

The bride wore a white faille chapel grown with a fitted bodice, off-the-shoulder yoke of net accented with four rows of shirred faille, and a hoop skirt with four rows of shirring at the hipline. Her fingertip veil was caught to a crown of seed pearls. Her only jewelry was a gold cross, set with pearls. She carried a white bridal prayer book, the gift of Father O'Neil D'Amour, attached to the cover of which was a white orchid with white satin shower ribbons, knotted with baby breath.

The maid of honor wore an identical gown of lemon faille with a matching tiara and she carried a bouquet of gold and sunshine gladioli.

Mrs. Scott wore a dove grey crepe suit with red accessories for her daughter's wedding and Mrs. Walin wore a navy blue crepe suit with matching accessories. The mothers' corsages were roses.

Centering the serving table was the three-tiered wedding cake topped with a miniature bridal couple in a wedding bell, and artistic bouquets of gladioli, arranged by Mrs. Smith, decorated the rooms.

Mrs. L. E. Scott served the wedding cake and assisting at the reception were Kathleen Lavelle of Gladstone, Ann Cavill of Menominee and Mary Helen Cassidy.

The newlyweds left on a trip to Canada. They will live in Marinesco where both will teach this coming year. The bride, a graduate of Rapid River high school attended the County Normal in Menominee and received her B. PAPER MILL FLUME DRAINED — This is the way the paper mill flume looks since it was drained a few days ago. The picture was taken from the dam at the north end. The water in the foreground comes from leaks in the bottom of the flume, the water seeping in from the river which flows along the east side. As soon as the leaks are repaired the bed of the basin will dry up. Framework to the right shows the location of the first repair work being done. A breach has been cut in the wall farther down to permit a crane and trucks to enter. The breach, of course, will be closed when inside repairs are completed. Photo by Vern Linderoth)

May Vote On Straits Remedy

County Democrats To Sound Sentiment

A bridge at the Straits of Mackinac, a tunnel or some other practical means of facilitating traffic at that bottleneck will perhaps be voted on at the 1950 election, if plans now being made by the Schoolcraft County Democratic Committee bear fruit.

Francis Schon, chairman of that committee announced the first of the week at a recent meeting of that body, a concerted effort will be made by that organization to sound sentiment as to what is the best solution to this much discussed problem.

Sportsmen's clubs, tourists bureaus, and people crossing the Straits will be questioned as to what they deem the best solution to the often times vexing problem and the suggestion deemed the most popular will likely be the one that will be placed on the ballot.

The committee is neutral as to whether a bridge, a tunnel, use of the causeway, auxiliary service from Northport to Manistique, Escanaba or Menominee or more ferries at the straits constitute the answer. The one that seems to suit the pubic fancy the most will be pressed for election.

"The public has never had a chance to fully express itself on this problem which means so much for our state—particularly Upper Michigan and they should have a right to vote on the question," said Schon. The local county Democratic commitee is taking ful responsibility for initiating this proposal.

Youth Drowns At Port Inland

Member Of Ship's Crew Heart Victim

Austin Asbury, 24, of Tazewell, Virginia, was drowned at Port Inland Saturday morning, about 10:30 o'clock.

Asbury, a member of the crew of the freighter John P. Reiss, and another employe of that ship were swimming in the harbor when Asbury sank from sight. His companion rescued him a few minutes later and crew members and empoyes at the port attempted to restore him, but their efforts were of no avail. His pulse was beating faintly shortly after he was rescued but stopped shortly afterward.

State police and Dr. E. J. Brenner arived to the scene shortly afterward and life saving equipment was put to use but all attempts to revive him failed.

It is believed that he suffered a heart attack while swimming.

The body was taken to the Morton Funeral Home, prepared for burial and sent to his home in Virginia for funeral services and burial.

Outboard Races Thrill Crowds

Gladstone, Ishpeming Drivers Winners

Gladstone and Ishpeming outboard racing men divided honors in as thrill-packed and closely contested program of races Sunday afternoon as this community has ever seen.

Drivers from Gladstone copped the three strictly stock events in Classes A, P and C, but Ishpeming men took the races for bigger motors and the 'hot rods'.

Roger Anderson of Gladstone nosed out Bill Noreus in the Class A event which was undecided until the final flag. The lead changed hands constantly during the event. Earl Louis was third.

Wimpy Mineau of Gladstone took the Class B event with Doug Boucher second and Pepper Martin third.

The Class C event went to Carlton Mineau with Fritz Pepin second and Pepper Martin third.

Chet Anderson of Ishpeming took the lead in the Class E event and was never headed although Gordon Elson, also of Ishpeming, was right on his tail the entire distance. Mason Meyer of Gladstone was third.

A special event, a Class C Open, was added to the program and Gordon Elson of Ishpeming was the winner. Jack Marble of Gladstone and Elson were putting on a thrilling duel when Marble overturned while leading the way round the westerly buoy on the second lap. Elson skillfully avoided colliding with the overturned craft and assumed the lead in the race which was called at the completion of the 4th lap when the 'crash boat' stalled while going to tow in the Marble boat and made rounding the buoy dangerous.

It was the only mishap of the afternoon's races.

Bill Walters of Ishpeming finished second and Mason Meyer third.

In the free-for-all, Gordon Elson again led the way. Taking the lead at the start, he maintained it the entire distance although pushed by Anderson. Mason Meyer again was third and almost caught Anderson when the prop on his motor lost a blade on the final stretch.

Boy Scouts put on a demonstration of canoeing and jousting.

Lunch was served to the participants in the afternoon's program following the last race.

Townsendites Will See Color Movie

A color sound movie entitled "The New Tobacco Road in U. S. A." is to be shown at a regular meeting of the Gladstone Townsend club Tuesday evening at 7:30 o'clock in the city hall. A luncheon will be served and several awards made by the club committee.

Powers Loses At Bark River

Menard Featured In Relief Role, 11-7

Bark River defeated Powers, 11 to 7, in a Tri-County league slugfest before a large crowd of enthusiastic fans at Bark River yesterday. The victory, 13th in a row for Bark River, discounting their exhibition game last week with the Brooklyn Colored Giants, put Bark River all alone at the top of the heap in the Tri-County standings.

A yeoman fireman role by Ray Menard was a feature of the game. Menard went into the fracas to relieve Ben Kleiman after Powers tied the score in the seventh. Powers got only one hit off Menard the rest of the way and the young Escanaba hurler was credited with the victory.

Shannon homered for Powers in the first inning, scoring two runners ahead of him.

Emil Pontow, speedy Menominee halfback, returned a punt 72 yards for the only touchdown of the game Saturday night at Negaunee as the South all-star football team defeated the North, 7-0. Johnson kicked the extra point for the South.

Pontow's long run was aided and abetted by a brilliant down field block executed by Escanaba's Howie Perron.

The South threatened the North goal line again in the fourth period but lost the ball inside the 10 yard line. The North did not make a serious scoring threat.

Football Bowl Rules Drawn

College Association To Control Games

Chicago, Aug. 15 (AP)—A National Collegiate Athletic Association group has laid down six rules on football bowl games. They may become NCAA law next January.

The associated committee also has told nine NCAA member colleges that they've violated the NCAA "sanity" code and their NCAA status is in danger. The nine were not named in yesterday's announcement.

Twelve other unnamed colleges were found violating the code. But they got by with a shake of the NCAA finger after they promised to comply with the code hereafter. They're on probation, pending proof that they're obeying it.

In addition to recommending the six rules for bowl games, a committee on the subject looked into "problems" created by all-star contests in various sports, and into the increasing number of basketball tournaments.

The group, however, decided not to do anything on all-star games and tournaments until it has made a further study of them.

The six rules drafted by the NCAA bowl games committee will go before the NCAA's full convention in New York next January. They provide:

1. Two representatives from NCAA member schools must be on any non-collegiate or non-conference committee sponsoring a post-season football game.

2. No competing schools cannot take part in more than one such game in the same academic year, or in any game which lacks an NCAA okay or doesn't abide by NCAA rules.

3. Competing schools shall agree on game officials.

4. The competing schools together shall get not less than a third of the seats in the game stadium. Each shall get at least one sixth of them. If either doesn't need that many, it must turn the unused tickets over to the other. Any unsold by either must go to the sponsoring group at least 15 days before the game.

5. The competing schools shall get at least 80 per cent of the gross receipts. They may be required to pay their team expenses out of that. The sponsoring group shall get no more than 20 per cent of the gross. It must pay the game expenses out of that.

6. The post-season game must be certified by the NCAA's extra events committee before it's put on. Members can't take part in any uncertified post-season games.

GARDEN WINS, 6-2

Garden defeated Nahma, 6 to 2, in a Bay de Noc league game Sunday, on 11 hits. Morin was the winning pitcher.

Steve Vugrin, the Escanaba Paper Mill's speedball artist, handcuffed the Escanaba Liberty Loans on one hit last night as the Paper Mill team won the district Class A softball championship, 8-0. Fleetwood's of Powers won the Class B title, 6-5, from Northland Stores, and Ensign copped the Class C crown, walloping the P&H Welders, 17-3, in the finals.

Vugrin was in rare form in the feature game of the night at Memorial Field in throttling the Loans. He was in full command of the battle all of the way, striking out 11 men. Wood's single, the only hit off Vugrin, was a blooper between second base and centerfield and it was one of only three balls hit into the outfield by the Loans.

Sullivan started for the Loans but retired in the fifth. The Paper Mill slashed out four hits for three runs in the second, added a run in the third and then sent Bill Sullivan to the dugout with a four run attack in the fifth.

The Paper Mill reached the finals by an easy 11-1 victory over the Menominee Legion, with Paul Larson pitching. The Liberty Loans crushed the Nu-Ways, 17-3, in a semi-final debacle.

Fleetwood's spotted Northland Stores four runs in the first inning, but came back hard away as the Class B finals but came back hacked away at the Northlands until the sixth when they scored the tying and winning runs. In the afternoon, using a patched up lineup because of the Powers-Bark River baseball game in which six of the Fleetwood players participated, defeated the Escanaba Steam Laundy, 4-3, and Northlands erased Larry's Bar, 7-3.

Ensign mauled the P-H Welders in the Class C championship game 17 to 3, scoring 11 of their runs in the fifth and sixth innings. Ensign defeated the St. Joe Boosters, 6-2, in the semi-finals and P-H Welders defeated the Gladstone Lions, 6-3, in the other semi-final game.

Aussie Netters Beat Italians

Challenge U.S. Team For Davis Cup

Rye, N. Y., Aug. 15 (AP)—The Australians are "in," and now the American Davis Cup selectors face the task of naming a set of domestic tennis players who can turn back the invaders for the third straight time in the challenge round Aug. 26-28 at Forest Hills.

It is not a task to be taken too lightly, as this is a better Aussie squad than the one which stumbled to an ignominious 9-0 defeat a year ago.

It has, among other things, a blond 22-year-old giant named Frank Sedgman who probably has developed faster than any other player in the world in the past year. At the moment, when he is right, he is capable of beating anybody he meets, except, possibly, Ted Schroeder.

American observers were greatly impressed watching him toy with Marcello Del Bello, Italy's No. 2 player, 6-0, 6-4, 6-4, as the Aussies wrapped up the inter-zone final against Italy yesterday at the Westchester Country club.

Later he gave a similarly fine exhibition of doubles play in pairing with John Bromwich to defeat Del Bello and Gianni Cucelli, 2-6, 6-2, 6-2, 6-1, in the decisive match.

Although the boys from down under feel they have a real chance in the challenge round, they wouldn't be much happier if the veteran Bromwich could regain his top-flight form and become interested in the game again.

Something—the pressure of too much play—has caused the 30-year-old bespectacled player to go stale, and he gave a sad exhibition in the first singles match Friday, being removed from the competition by his customarily brilliant form before it was over.

Tigers Sweep Doubleheader

Open Series Tonight At Cleveland Park

Cleveland, Aug. 15 (AP)—Both Detroit's Tigers and Cleveland's Indians will have their sights aimed at the next rung in the American League standings when they open a two-game series under the lights tonight.

The Indians, five games out of the lead and just a game behind second-place Boston, would like to use the Tigers as a stepping stone to better things.

Detroit, for its part, could put third place within striking distance by whipping the Indians twice. The Tigers now are three and a half games back of Cleveland.

If the Tigers—who beat St. Louis twice yesterday to wind up a short home stand with five triumphs and one defeat—are going to gain any more ground in the current flag chase, this week may give them one of their best chances to do it.

Newhouser vs. Feller

They visit Chicago after leaving here, and a winning record against the Indians and White Sox would put them in a good spot for the four Eastern Clubs' invasion of Briggs Stadium at the end of the month.

Two ace rivals of the American league—Hal Newhouser and Bob Feller—will be doing the pitching tonight. Both will be after a 12th win. Hal has lost seven games this season, and Feller has dropped eight.

Freddie Hutchinson and Art Houtteman kept up their winning ways in the double victory in Detroit yesterday.

Hutch won his 11th victory of the year and his sixth straight with a 6 to 2 decision in the opener. Houtteman's win, by a 4 to 3 score, was his tenth.

Hutchinson allowed the Browns but six hits, and Art gave up seven. Both got strong support from the dependable bat of third-baseman George Kell, who pounded out a triple, a double and two singles—a four for four in each contest—for his afternoon's work.

George batted in what proved to be the winning run in the close second game. Pat Mullin had singled and advanced to third on Dick Wakefield's double in the seventh inning. One man was out when Kell came to bat, and he hit along fly into the outfield that permitted Pat to score after the catch.

Earlier Brownie Catcher Lester Moss' eighth home run of the season scored two runs to put the St. Louis club back in the game after Detroit jumped off to a three-run lead in the first. The Browns picked up another score in the eighth, but the rally fell short.

Kell's hits accounted for three of Detroit's six runs in the opener. In the opening frame his 31st double of the year climaxed a rally that leadoff batter Eddie Lake got started with a sharp single. The next two batters went out, but Vic Wertz doubled Lake home and then Kell's blow scored Vic from second.

Detroit and Kell put the game on ice in the fifth. Neil Berry opened by beating out a bunt. After Hutch went out, Lake was safe on second baseman Gerry Priddy's error. Mullin hit to Priddy, who threw to second but failed to retire Lake.

With the bases loaded, Wakefield gave Priddy his third chance in a row. The St. Louis player started a double play, retiring Mullin, but shortstop Johnny Sullivan's throw to first was wild, and two runs scored. Then Wertz singled, and Kell's triple gave the Tigers their last scores of the game.

First game:

St. Louis	000 010 100—2	6	1
Detroit	200 040 00x—6	8	0

Garver and Moss; Houtteman and Robinson.

Walcott Kayos Swedish Champ

Wants Second Crack At Ezzard Charles

Stockholm, Aug. 15 (AP)—Ancient Jersey Joe Walcott, grinning from ear to ear, stretched out in his hotel room today and told the world to bring on its leading heavyweights—he'd fight 'em all.

While his manager Felix Bocchicchio nodded in agreement, Jersey Joe, loser twice to Joe Louis in heavyweight title fights, said he planned to take a European exhibition tour to include Holland, England, Belgium, France and possibly Spain.

He figures he is among the top contenders for Ezzard Charles' NBA version of the heavyweight crown, following his slick performance in knocking out Sweden's Olle Tanberg in the fifth stanza of their scheduled 12-round bout last night.

"I want another crack at Charles," said the veteran warrior from Camden, N. J., who was outpointed by Ez earlier in the summer. "I feel certain I will beat him the next time."

Bocchicchio, the bustling little manager, thought so, too.

"The Tanberg affair was a clean fight, and Joe's victory will keep him up in the contender's division next to Charles."

Would Jersey Joe be willing to fight anyone other than Charles? "Sure he would," said the excited Bocchicchio, who received the congratulations of U. S. Ambassador to Sweden H. Freeman Andrews after the battle. "If the Bruce - Woodcock - Lee Savold match comes off in September as scheduled, we'll gladly take on the winner."

The largest crowd ever to watch a fight in Scandanvia—43,000 — was on hand, and it saw Walcott send Tanberg to the canvas twice before dropping him for good in 2:30 of the fifth.

Red Sox Still Gaining On Yanks In AL Race

By JOE REICHLER
Associated Press Sports Writer

A penny for Casey Stengel's thoughts today as once again the manager of the New York Yankees feels the hot breath of the oncoming Boston Red Sox on the back of his neck.

Wasn't it just seven weeks ago that Stengel wrote off the Red Sox?

"This is it," he exclaimed jubilantly on July 4 after the Yankees had whipped the Bosox for the fifth straight time "The Red Sox won't bother us any more." "We knocked them right out of the race. They'll never recover."

And who would say that Casey was wrong? Those were dark days for Ted Williams and company. They had suffered eight defeats in a row. They were wallowing in fifth place. The Yankees were 12 full games away, and it appeared only a miracle could pull them back. Why, the Red Sox would be lucky to finish in the first division.

Today, exactly seven weeks later, the Red Sox, in an amazing about face, are just four games within the ground on the Yankees. Now in second place, there are exactly seven weeks left in the playing schedule. It doesn't take a certified public accountant to figure out the pennant winner, should the Sox repeat their last seven weeks' work.

Athletics Win Twin Bill

The Sox, piling up 24 hits and 18 bases on balls, overpowered the Washington Senators twice yesterday, 9-3 and 13-4, to pick up another game on the Yankees. Stengel's crew whipped Philadelphia, 4-2, but the Athletics came back to win the second game of the doubleheader, 4-3.

The twin triumph gave the Red Sox a record of 32 victories in 41 games since that fateful July 4. They've now win 18 of 22 in their latest home stand. Five in a row have come at the expense of the Senators, whom they meet 10 more times. In one, they held an 8-3 lead after six innings. The game will be completed later this week. Boston also has seven games left with the Yankees.

The Brooklyn Dodgers regained the lead from St. Louis in the tight National league race, winning from Boston, 7-2 while Pittsburgh was trouncing the Cardinals, 4-0. This turn of events put the Brooks one game in front of the Redbirds.

Lefty Mel Parnell turned in his 18th triumph for the Boston Red Sox with a seven-hitter in the opener against Washington. Dom DiMaggio sparked the Red Sox attack with a home run and two singles.

Junior Stephens hit his 31st home run in the second game with two mates on base to help Jack Kramer beat the Senators' Paul Calvert.

Alex Kellner scored his fourth victory over the Yankees and his 15th of the season as the Athletics beat the league leaders for a split of the doubleheader. Bob Porterfield, aided by Joe Page, was credited with winning the opener for the Yankees.

The third place Cleveland Indians advanced to within five games of the top by winning both ends of a doubleheader from Chicago White Sox, 4-3 and 5-0. Bob Lemon hurled his 14th victory in the opener and Garcia his 11th in the second game. It was the Mexican's third shutout.

The fourth place Detroit Tigers moved to within eight and a half games of the top, downing the St. Louis Browns twice, 6-2 and 4-3. Fred Hutchinson scored his 11th victory with his sixth straight with a six-hitter in the opener. George Kell paced the Tigers with a double and triple to drive in three runs.

Tam O'Shanter Playoff Today

Palmer And Demaret Tied With 275's

By CHARLES CHAMBERLAIN

Chicago, Aug. 15 (AP)—The Tam O'Shanter golf roulette got an extra twirl today, sending Johnny Palmer and Jimmy Demaret, a pair of high-powered money players, into a $17,000 championship playoff.

Seventy-two holes weren't enough to determine a winner of Promoter George S. May's fabulous $35,000 "world" tourney yesterday. Palmer and Demaret charged in among the par-wreckers with 275's—13 strokes under the Tam regulation.

Today's 18 hole showdown, starting at 2 p. m. (E.S.T.) will pay the winner $10,000. Second place is worth $7,000.

In yesterday's mad scramble, over fairways and greens hemmed in by an estimated 12,000 awed customers, Palmer grooved a pair of 35's for a respectable 70, two under par.

Demaret, two hours earlier, had carved 33-34—67 for his 275. Then the fashion plate from Ojai, Calif., —garbed in purple slacks and a lime-green sports shirt — began sweating it out to see what would happen.

Carry Middlecoff, with 68, and Toney Penna, with 70, went for 278. Bob Hamilton's 71 put him in 279. Buck White, the 54-hole leader with 205, ballooned to a closing 75. Johnny Bulla, Jim Turnesa, and Jim Ferrier trudged in at 282.

Things were looking a little better for Demaret. Then came Palmer, the Badin, N. C., former B-29 waist gunner who sprayed shells over Japan. He played tag with a couple of traps on the final nine but always recovered by sinking putts of 7-10 feet.

Palmer finally banged on the 18th, 10 feet from the cup in two. With $3,000 resting on the putt—he missed it, sending his par 4 to tie with Demaret instead of winning outright.

Sam Snead, with 277, collected third prize of $5,000.

On the last green, just plain Sam whipped in a 12 foot putt for a birdie 3. If he had not dropped it, he would have tied with Middlecoff and Penna. The putt was worth $2,500 to the leading money winner, boosting his golf earnings for the year to $30,893.

Detroit's Chick Harbert finished just out of the money with a 286 total. His final round was a good 71, but it couldn't make up for yesterday's 75.

Ed Furgol of Royal Oak, Mich., finished with a 77 and a total of 290.

The other brackets of May's world tournaments ended this way:

Women's Amateur — Grace Lenczyk, Hartford, Conn., 77 for 313; Dot Kielty, Long Beach, Calif., 79 to 314. Mary Agnes Wall of Menominee, Mich., was third with 319.

Women's Professional — Babe Didrickson Zaharias, of Denver, Colo., 79 for 301 and $1,100; Patty Berg of Minneapolis, 78 for 309 and $800. Sally Sessions of Muskegon, Mich., won $100 for a 331 score. She placed sixth.

Men's Amateur—Bill Campbell, Huntington, W. Va., with 73 for 290; John "Pick" Waters, Chicago, with 71 for 291; Wilford Wehrle, French Lick, Ind., with 72 for 292.

Perkins Wins From Cornell By 5 To 3

The Perkins team of the Bay de Noc league won their last home stand from Cornell Sunday by a score of 5 to 3. Brayak's wildness in the seventh letting Perkins score 4 runs after walking a couple batters and hitting one. A hit and wildness was the cause, Cornell had a 1 to 0 lead up to the 6th inning and that score looked very big until the sixth when Perkins tied the score on a wild pitch, and in the 7th they scored 4 runs to sew it up. If Brayak had not been so wild the game would have been a very close affair.

Weesners Get Control Of Roscoe Turner Line

The Civil Aeronautics Board today approved the transfer of Roscoe Turner Aeronautical Corporation's certificate of public convenience and necessity to Turner Airlines Corporation, subject to certain conditions. The certificate was issued by the Board on February 6, 1948, to Roscoe Turner Aeronautical Corporation and authorized the carriage of passengers, property, and mail on a route radiating from Indianapolis to various points including Chicago, Grand Rapids, Cincinnati, and Louisville. No operations have yet been conducted over this route.

Turner Airlines Corporation, which proposes to operate the feeder route as certificated by the board, is headed by Colonel Roscoe Turner as president, with R. Paul Weesner as executive vice-president and actual operating head. The agreement for the certificate transfer provides that Roscoe Turner Aeronautical Corporation will receive 20,000 shares, or 25 percent of the outstanding shares of Turner Airlines, in exchange for the certificate. It is contemplated that four DC-3's now owned by Nationwide Air Transport Service, a large irregular air carrier owned and controlled by R. W. Weesner, Paul Weesner, and John Weesner, will be made available to Turner Airlines in exchange for 60,000 shares, or the remainder of the outstanding stock, of Turner Airlines.

Conditions Imposed

In approving the certificate transfer of a feeder line to a corporation controlling a large irregular airline, the board imposed certain conditions to be met by the parties. The order provides, among other things, that within six months from the date of the order Nationwide Air Transport Service shall surrended its letter of registration as a large irregular carrier, and shall not engage in any air transportation, or in the alternative that the Weesners shall divest themselves of the control of Nationwide Air Transport Service through stock ownership or otherwise so as to eliminate any common control of Turner Airlines and Nationwide Air Transport Service.

The board also has ordered Turner Airlines to show cause why the certificate, now scheduled to expire February 6, 1951, shall not be extended to expire on December 31, 1952.

The board said that it is concerned, as are the parties to this case, with providing a means for activating the feeder route granted to Roscoe Turner Aeronautical Corporation, since more than half the life of the feeder certificate has already expired, and there is no assurance that it will be extended. The board also realizes that to require Nationwide to dissolve its irregular air carrier operation would probably result in a heavy loss to the company. However, the board believes that it is not in the public interest to approve control of a feeder airline by a large irregular air carrier or common control of such enterprises by the same individuals or group.

Start In September

The board said "We are confronted with a conflict between the public interest needs of activating the feeder routes wherever possible and the dangers to the public interest in a common control situation. We believe that a proper balance between the public needs and the legitimate interests of the individuals here can be achieved through a policy which will prohibit the common control of Nationwide Air Transport Service and Turner Airlines, but will at the same time enable the Weesner group to have a period of time in which to dispose of their irregular air carrier operations and to receive assurances of a full period of operation of the feeder airline."

Turner Airlines proposes to inaugurate service on northern segments of the route on or before September 1, 1949. Services will be inaugurated over the remaining route segments when adequate airport facilities become available at intermediate stops.

Two Rock Girls Lose Groceries To Hungry Bear

Rock, Mich. — Two Rock girls had an exciting experience this past week, when a bear visited them during the night and ate their groceries.

The girls, Laurel Manntie and Shirley Johnson, went to the Manntie cottage at Shag lake, but on arriving found the door locked, and were unable to find the key. Previously Mrs. Manntie had planned to stay at the cottage with them, but had left earlier with her husband, believing the girls were not coming.

After a late start, due to a ball game, the girls decided they would camp outside, as the weather was warm, and look for the key in the morning. Boards were laid on an old cot to make a bed.

About 2 a. m., they were awakened by a bear who was tearing apart their grocery bag, containing a cake. The girls had placed it alongside their bed.

When the girls sat up quickly, the surprised bear ran a few feet, and looked at the petrified girls, while they looked back. They could see him clearly in the moonlight.

Finally the bear decided to go and walked off in the direction of a neighboring cottage. The girls bolted for a boat anchored on the shore and rowed out on the lake. They stayed out quite awhile, deciding what they were going to do.

They decided not to return to the cottage, but instead rowed to some friends' and spent the night there.

The bear ate a pound of butter, apples, marshmallows and vegetables which the girls had brought with them. Yes, he left the cake.
